

SEYLA COAT

BIG ON WARMTH. BIG ON STYLE

A down insulated layer is a must have in a dry cold climate and the Fall 2019 Seyla Coat from Arc'teryx, brings function and style into an elegant, everyday piece for urban winter conditions. The perfect around town piece, the Seyla Coat features a longer body for added coverage and extra down insulation for warmth.

- Warmest down coat in the Everyday collection
- Increased length for extra coverage beyond an ordinary jacket
- Larger down baffles for increased insulation

PURPOSE BUILT CONTEMPORARY

Inspired by the Cerium SV, the Seyla Coat offers exceptional warmth with a moisture-resistant outer face fabric that stands up to harsh winter conditions. The mid-length silhouette and extra-large pleated down baffles, provide additional protection from cold temperatures and winds without compromising aesthetic appeal.

The Seyla Coat inherits a design philosophy from climbers, alpinists and backcountry explorers. Features made from wild places transformed into contemporary style for the city. Packable, warm, and weather-resistant. The Seyla Coat features a two-way zipper for ease of access, and Arato™ face fabric with 750 fill European grey goose down. It's the warmest down coat in the 24 collection.

"Seyla is our first big down coat for women. We wanted to build on the success of Nuri Coat and make it warmer, cozier, and more fun looking without losing the benefits of being lightweight, packable, versatile and super low maintenance."
